PARCELS POST PLAN A NEW YEAR'S GIFT FROM GOVERNMENT

IT MAY REDUCE COST OF LIVING

Domestic Parcels Post In Operation First of the Year.

OUTLINE OF THE NEW SYSTEM

Will Be a Direct Competitor of the Express Companies, Particularly on Small Package Business—Eleven Pounds the Limit of a Single Bundle—The Different Zones and Regulations as to Perishable Articles.

Washington, Dec. 30.—A New Year's gift by the American government to the American people will be a thoroughly equipped domestic parcels post. In actual operation, it is expected that the parcels post will bring the factory and the farm into closer touch with the consumer, and that it may reduce the cost of living. The new system will be a direct competitor of the express companies, particularly on small package business.

First, second and third-class mail matter now is transported at a flat rate for any distance. Parcels post rates are based upon a series of zones and they increase as the distance increases. The first zone includes all territory within a radius of approximately 50 miles from the postoffice at which the parcel may be mailed; the second, 150 miles; the third, 300 miles; the fourth, 600 miles; the fifth, 1,000 miles; the sixth, 1,400 miles; the seventh, 1,800 miles, and the eighth, all territory beyond 1,800 miles.

Size of Package. By the terms of the law, all matter now embraced in the first, second and third classes of mail matter may be forwarded by parcels post, provided a single package does not exceed 11 pounds in weight or is not greater in dimensions than 72 inches in combined length and girth, and is not of such a character as to injure postal employees or damage equipment or other mail matter.

Provision is made for small packages weighing from one to four ounces, which may be sent at a flat rate of 1 cent for each ounce.

Within the postal district of any postoffice a local rate of 5 cents for the first pound and 1 cent for each additional pound is prescribed. Within the 50 miles representing the first zone, the rate is 5 cents for the first pound and 3 cents for each additional pound. This rate increases with the distance until it reaches a maximum of 12 cents a pound for delivery within the eighth zone, 1,800 miles from the point of mailing.

For parcel post matter a distinctive set of postage stamps has been provided.

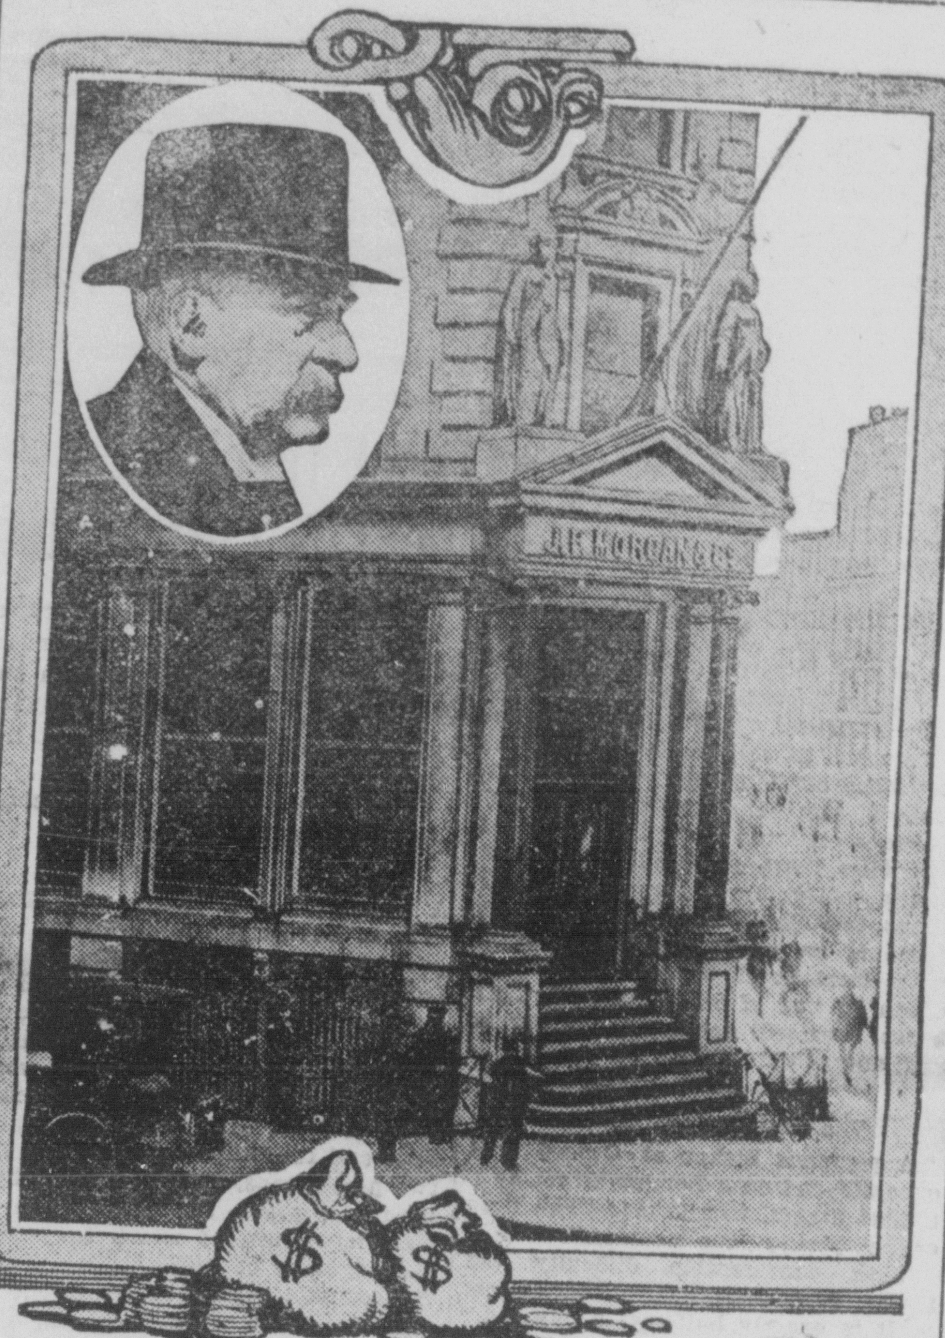

Matter Excluded. All matter which is declared unmailable by law will be unmailable as parcel post matter. This includes obscene, fraudulent and immoral matter, intoxicating liquors, poisons, live animals, birds and poultry, inflammable articles and such things as raw hides or furs or other articles having a bad odor.

Liquids and oils, paste and salves, sharp instruments, ink powders, pepper and snuff must be placed in water-tight receptacles and in many instances surrounded by absorbent material to prevent damage to other mail matter.

Articles such as millinery, toys, musical instruments and glassware must be labeled "fragile."

One of the interesting features of the regulations concerns perishable articles. In this class are placed but-ter, lard, fish, fresh meats, dressed meats, vegetables and fruits and berries. Provision is made for carrying almost every article produced on the farm except live animals and live birds. In the local zone little packing is required. Within the first zone—50 miles—these articles must be enclosed in a cover and in a strong outer covering of wood, metal or heavy corrugated pasteboard and so wrapped that they can escape from the package. It has been demonstrated to the sat-

Photos by American Press Association.

THERE is nothing pretentious about J. Pierpont Morgan nor about his office. After the recent Puff money trust inquiry there is little doubt as to Morgan's title, the "money king of America." You would think a man who stood at the head of American finance would show off a bit if he wanted to. Not so J. P. Of course his years forbids display, for he is over three score and ten now, but all his life has been without ostentation. His old dingy office at Wall and Broad streets, New York, opposite the United States branch treasury, reflects the man.

Sunday Begins Work On Sunday

Columbus, O., Dec. 30.—Enormous crowds, three times 10,000, at three services Sunday paid homage to the oratory and skill of William A. Sunday, evangelist, who opened his seven weeks' campaign in Columbus with audiences each one of which was larger than any other that ever before gathered under roof in this city. At night thousands and possibly tens of thousands were turned away, unable to gain admission to the tabernacle.

Ghouls Rifle a Tomb. Vienna, Dec. 30.—Ghouls rifled the tomb of Count and Countess Rhodéy-Groszwarden. They were probably tempted by the tradition that a very valuable diadem and family jewels were buried with the bodies. The ghouls found nothing but the remains of the dead.

FLAMES BURN FAMOUS MANSION

GOVERNOR BULL HOUSE DESTROYED

Two Persons Dead In Newport's Most Disastrous Fire.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 30.—Two persons lost their lives, 16 families were driven from their homes, 10 buildings were completely destroyed and as many more damaged, and property damage that will probably amount to between $200,000 and $300,000, is the result of the most disastrous fire that has ever visited this city.

The persons losing their lives were Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Heath, an aged couple, tenants in the old Governor Bull house on Spring street, one of those destroyed.

The fire, which started evidently from spontaneous combustion among the paints and oils in the George A. Weaver company's hardware store, was fanned for a time by a gale of wind. It spread with great rapidity.

The destruction of the old Governor Bull house is a serious loss. On July 15, 1906, this house was marked by a tablet by the Rhode Island Historical society. The tablet bore the inscription: "The Governor Bull house. The oldest house in Rhode Island. Built in part in 1639 by Henry Bull, governor under the royal charter of the colony of Rhode Island and Providence plantations." In the years 1685, 1686 and 1690 additions were made to the building.

The most seriously injured is Mrs. A. B. Atkinson of Vancouver, B. C., who has a fractured lower jaw and lacerated hip.

QUIET NIGHT IN JAIL

Thirty-eight Convicted Men In Conspiracy Case Regain Composure.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 30.—The 38 convicted men in the dynamite conspiracy case passed a very quiet night in the county jail. While the government does not apprehend anything like an attempted jail delivery, Sheriff Woessner feels his responsibility so keenly that he determined to take no chances and swore in 20 deputies. Some of the prisoners regained their good humor and called back and forth to each other from their cells, but there was little extended conversation and very few jokes were cracked. President Ryan, Olaf Tveitmo, Eugene Clancy, Butler, Webb and others were decidedly glum.

ANOTHER SEASON MAY END BIG WORK

TAFT AND PARTY RETURN

President Pleased With Way Canal Work is Being Pushed.

Key West, Fla., Dec. 30.—The battleships Arkansas and Delaware, bearing President Taft and his party, dropped anchor here. Rosy from his sea trip and smiling at the welcome extended him, the president landed at the naval pier.

The president's appearance backed up his statement that he had had a very pleasant trip. He also expressed himself as pleased with the way the Panama canal is being pushed to completion and said it was a wonderful work.

Colonel Goethals accompanied the presidential party from Colon and will go to Washington. His presence is regarded as an indication of the intention to establish a provisional government in the canal zone at an early date. The presidential party left on a train for Washington.

PRESIDENT-ELECT AGAIN HIMSELF

Arrives at Home From Staunton In Prime Condition.

FULLY RECOVERED FROM COLD

Joined at Washington by Des Moines Attorney Who Carried Aboard a Boom For Bryan For Secretary of State and a Boomlet For Himself as Secretary of the Interior—Wilson Declines to Discuss the Philippines.

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 30.—Governor Wilson reached home in prime condition. He has fully recovered from his recent cold. He was joined in Washington, where there was a stopover of an hour, by Jerry I. Sullivan, a Des Moines lawyer, who once ran for governor of the state. He brought aboard a boom for William J. Bryan as secretary of state and a boomlet for himself.

Governor Wilson frankly admitted that he did not know whether or not his visitor had been mentioned for a cabinet position, and Mr. Sullivan just as frankly admitted that he had been mentioned for secretary of the interior.

Mr. Sullivan also said that the farmers out his way want to know what Governor Wilson is going to do with the international harvester trust and other companies of that kind with which they have dealings. He said the governor assured him that so far as he is concerned the Baltimore pledges for the regulation of competition would be carried out.

In the opinion of Mr. Sullivan it would be dangerous for President-elect Wilson to leave Mr. Bryan off his cabinet list without letting the people know the reasons that prompted him. "We need a man," he said, "of his experience at the president's side to handle the big questions of the secretary of state's office; questions like the Panama canal and others of international importance. The folks out my way will be greatly disappointed if Mr. Bryan doesn't get that job."

Governor Wilson declined to develop the suggestion offered at the Staunton banquet that the Philippines presently cease to be our frontier. As for his remarks respecting those whom it might be necessary to educate into progressive ways of thinking, he said he had no particular person in mind other than those who are reactionaries.

Half of Staunton was at the railway station to see the governor away and Mrs. Wilson got an ovation as they boarded the train. As a parting tribute the pupils of St. Francis Catholic schools sent a miniature ship of state with the governor's photograph on the jib and an angel on the mainmast.

Samuel Gompers Will Come Forward With a Talk

New York, Dec. 30.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, said that he was not yet ready to say whether or not the decision of the jury in Indianapolis, in convicting the 38 dynamiters, was just or unjust. He intimated that he would later on issue a formal statement on this subject; it was not a matter which would pass over with a mere comment, and would require a carefully prepared statement.

A TIED UP BY COURT'S ACTION

Order Issued Against Herod's Creek Oil and Gas Co., and No Further Work Toward Cleaning Out Well at Harper's Station Can Be Done Until the Case Is Heard--Plaintiff Claims
Contract Is Void and Defendants Have No Rights on the Grounds.

Wilbur P. Harper and Alice L. Harper have filed injunction proceedings against the Herod's Creek Oil & Gas Co., (George Kissling, Jas. Henderson and John Miller doing business as Henderson & Miller) in the Common Pleas court. Lyle S. Evans is attorney for the plaintiff.

The plaintiffs claim that the company was granted a lease by them in consideration of rents and royalties, in April, 1910, giving them a special right to search for petroleum and natural gas on about 600 acres of their land in Bucks township for ten years and so much longer as oil or gas can be produced in paying quantities, if rent and royalty is paid.

This rental was to be applied on stock at par value, $5 per share when the well was commenced with lease. They claimed that the defendants agreed to deliver to them one-eighth of all the oil produced and saved on the premises; in case gas was found, to pay them $200 a year for gas from each well so used; to conduct operations so as to interfere least with their farming privileges; to drill no well within 300 feet of any of their buildings except by plaintiff's consent and to commence a well within one year from the date of lease and another within a year after the completion of the lease. For failure to do this the lease was to be cancelled unless the lessees should pay 25c per acre a year until the well was completed. Unavoidable accidents were accepted. The plaintiffs agreed in the lease to pay for the connections for free gas at their house on the land and the defendants agreed to pay for all damages to crops and fences caused by operating for the oil and gas. The defendants were also allowed to use water and gas for necessary machinery and the right to lay pipe lines for such. This lease, plaintiffs claim, was signed in the presence of Jacob Forsythe, B. R. Mallow and Vallie A. Harper.

Now plaintiffs claim that in May 1911, the defendants entered the leased land and began to drill a well and that in July, 1911, without completing said well they abandoned it and have never since attempted to complete it or open up a new well. They claim that Henderson and Miller have never at any time paid them any rentals provided for in the above lease and that on Monday last, Geo. Kissling, who claims to be an agent of the defendants, came to them and tried to enter the land with tools for the further drilling on the same well.

The contracts, the plaintiffs claim, has become void and that the defendants have no right whatever upon the ground. A temporary restraining order has been granted the plaintiffs by Judge Festus Walters and Edwin D. Sayre upon their giving bond in the sum of $500.—Chillicothe Advertiser.

Death Ends Long Illness

After nearly two months of brave struggling against a case of typhoid fever, which was virulent from the first, Mr. Solon Loofbourrow answered the eternal summons at 4 o'clock Monday morning at his home on Leesburg avenue.

The sad news was received with deep sorrow by relatives and many friends, as well as in the different Masonic lodges of the city, of which Mr. Loofbourrow has been an active member.

Mr. Loofbourrow left his farm near Mt. Sterling in the fall of 1894, when he was elected to the office of county sheriff and has since made this city his home. Upon the expiration of his office he engaged in the livery business. During his residence here, Mr. Loofbourrow affiliated himself with all branches of the Masonic fraternity and for some time has ably filled the position of Tyler in each body.

He leaves a widow and two daughters, Misses Florence and Alice, who have the deepest sympathy of the community.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Terrible Lake Ronkonkoma.

The brakeman on the Long Island railroad was talking to two schoolboys who got on the train at Garden City. "Say, kids, did you know there's a lake down the island where the suicides disappear, and their bodies are found in the Atlantic ocean? That's a gospel fact. I lost a friend there once. We dragged for his body three days, and some fishermen picked it up near Oak Island Beach, just outside Fire Island Inlet. Now, kids, what do you think of that? Ask your teacher. Maybe she can explain all about it." Needless to remark, the boys were much interested.

The lake referred to is Ronkonkoma, a freak of nature, about forty-eight miles from New York's City Hall, and half way between Stony Brook and Sayville. Strange are the traditions hovering over this small body of water. The Indians around Islip used to call it Ronkonkoma, but many of the present day Long Islanders say Ronkonkoma. Old "residents" tell that the tide rises and falls there twice in twenty-four hours, sometimes six inches, at other times two feet. It is believed that there is an underground connection with Great South Bay, leading to the ocean by way of Fire Island Inlet. At times, they will declare, the water is salt, and at other times fresh.

The Boy and the Bishop.

A pompous Bishop of Oxford was once stopped on a London street by a ragged urchin, who asked: "The time o' day, please your lordship."

With considerable difficulty the portly bishop extracted his timepiece. "It is exactly half-past 5, my lad."

"Well," said the boy, setting his feet for a good start, "at 'half-past 6 you go to 'ell," and he was off like a flash.

The bishop, flushed and furious, his watch dangling from its chain, floundered after him. Just as he rounded the corner he ran into the arms of the venerable Bishop of London.

"Oxford! Oxford!" remonstrated the surprised dignitary, "why this unseemly haste?"

Puffing, blowing, spluttering, the outraged bishop gasped out: "That young ragamuffin—I told him it was half-past 5. He—er—told me to go to h—l at half-past 6."

"Yes, yes," said the Bishop of London, with the suspicion of a twinkle in his kindly old eyes, "but why such haste? You've got almost an hour." —Philadelphia Record.

A Dreary Land.

The country from Jerusalem to the Jordan valley is as dreary and desolate as could be imagined.

The hills look like great banks of rock and sand. Not even the Sahara itself looks more forbidding. It is the "country not inhabited," the wilderness into which the scapegoat was driven. We are all glad we went, but none of us could be induced to go again.—Zion's Herald.

Vienna's Plague of Pigeons.

Vienna is suffering from too many pigeons, and the authorities are at a loss to know what to do to mitigate the nuisance. The birds, which number some thousands, have a privileged existence; nobody molests them in any way, so that they flourish and increase rapidly.

Recently so many complaints have been received from house owners of the pigeons that the Vienna magistracy decided something must be done to reduce the number. In their perplexity the magistracy appealed to the Vienna Society for the Protection of Animals to aid them in a legal slaughter of the offending birds, always having regard, however, to the provisions of the new birds protection law.

The society answered that it would be hardly consistent with their principles of friendliness toward animals to engage in a massacre of pigeons and therefore they must reject the official appeal.

The magistracy are now wrestling with the problem alone. Perhaps the unemployed of Vienna might help them.

"While a well-dressed fellow—stranger in the village—was cranking up his automobile out here yesterday," said the landlord of the Pruntown tavern, "the machine got started up somehow and he was knocked down and run over and jammed into the mud and dragged a ways, and so on. "He scrambled up, gave a yell, and set out after the machine, which wasn't goin' so awful fast. Before he overtook it he stepped on a round stone, which threw him, head, neck, and heels, into the mud again; but he got up, yelled louder than ever, and finally managed to catch the machine and climbed in and stopped it."

"Lester Fagg happened to be right there with a pick-ax on his shoulder, and the fellow jumped out, grabbed the pick-ax, and sailed in on the machine, and picked and tore it 'most all to pieces. Then he threw down the pick and put off on foot down the road, a-stompin' so heavy that the mud flew as high as his head every time he jumped."

"I asked Lester who he s'posed the fellow was, and he said he guessed he must be one o' them Idle Rich that we read so much about in the papers nowadays."

Teddy was being a bad boy. He wouldn't take his castor oil, he wouldn't. He hated the stuff! Boo-hoo-o-o-o!

His mother remonstrated. No use. She would give him a ball. She would give him a box of chocolates. She would give him a ball and a box of chocolates. All in vain.

Then mamma leaned her head upon her hands, and pretended to cry. If there was one thing Teddy could not bear, it was to see his mother cry.

He sat up in bed. "What's the matter, mother dear?" he asked, in wailing tones. "I'm grieved that my son won't take his castor oil for me," wailed mamma.

Teddy took her hand. "Oh, I wouldn't feel badly if I were you, mother dear!" he said soothingly. "Father will be home soon, and he'll make me take it."

A New Method of Electric Welding.

L. S. Lachman has devised a new process of electric welding which makes it possible to employ steel instead of malleable iron in the manufacture of numerous articles. As two unequal sections cannot be welded together satisfactorily. Lachman has one piece cast with a projecting edge and the other with a point. The two projections, forced together by a hydraulic press, are included in a electric circuit, of which they form the segment of highest resistance. Hence, when a strong current is caused to flow through them, they are heated nearly or quite to the melting point and, being subjected to great pressure, quickly become welded together, and attach themselves to each other more firmly than they could be attached by means of rivets, because there is no break in the continuity of the metal.

Breech-Loaders.

Breech-loading cannon were among the earliest used. We find them on English and other ships as early as the last quarter of the fourteenth century, and therefore much before the time of the buccaniers. The cannon was a mere tube, bound with heavy iron rings, and was loaded by the insertion of the "gonne chamber," an iron pan containing the charge, which fitted into and closed the breech. These guns were very clumsy affairs in comparison with the modern breech-loader, but the principle was the same.

Full Beards for Farmers.

The protection of farmers and others who are exposed to the heat a great deal is a serious and difficult matter. Cancer is on the increase, and farmers furnish a large proportion of the cases, many of them being due to the direct effects of sunlight on the face and hands. A full beard for the farmer is most desirable for his protection.

Mrs. Frank C. Parrett entertained at a charming little luncheon Saturday Mrs. Chas. McLean and guests, Mrs. George Fabb, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Will Riddle, of London, and Mrs. D. H. Van Winkle.

A large circle of friends in Washington and Fayette county will be interested to learn of the marriage of Dr. F. Willard Cockerill, of Dayton, and Miss Ethel M. Coffman, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. E. Coffman, 1227 North Institute street, Colorado Springs, Colorado, on December the 25th at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The wedding was a very quiet event, only a few of the neighbors witnessing the ceremony performed by Dr. Merle N. Smith, pastor of First M. E. church.

Dr. Cockerill will visit in Colorado Springs until after New Years, when he returns to Dayton, his bride remaining with her mother for an indefinite period.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cockerill, of the New Martinsburg pike, and has built up a lucrative dental practice during the short time since his location in Dayton.

The bride is a charming girl and both she and Dr. Cockerill have many warm friends in Washington circles as well as extensive family connections who will extend to them all good wishes.

Dr. and Mrs. Cockerill are reciprocating by sending back from the west New Year's greetings to relatives and friends in Fayette county.

Washington friends have received the following announcement cards:

"Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Booth announce the marriage of their daughter, Eugenie Coan, to Mr. Harry Hamilton Campbell, on Friday, Dec. 27, 1913, Crawford, N. J."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton Campbell at home after January 15, The Parker, Park and Sixteenth St., Washington, D. C.

The bridegroom is the brother of Rev. William Irvin Campbell, pastor of the Presbyterian church and has frequently visited here.

A bright and attractive young fellow, with a beautiful tenor voice, generously used during his visits to his brother, combined to win for him both friends and admirers in Washington.

The bride's parents are engaged in missionary work in Japan and she has recently returned from the Orient to be married at the home of an aunt.

Rev. Campbell went on to New Jersey shortly before Christmas and officiated at the wedding.

Mrs. N. M. Roberts entertained a pleasurable family dinner Sunday in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Kate Roberts, who is visiting from Chattanooga, Tenn. The additional guests were Dr. and Mrs. D. H. OPERATION RESTORES MIND

Says He Was Assaulted in New York City May 1, 1897—Another Man Recalls Former Marriage After Operation.

Seattle, Wash.—For fourteen years Chandler Rogers, of New York City, has roamed around this country under the name of George Kelly. Two months ago he was married at Port Blakely, Wash. Two weeks ago bloodhounds found him raving mad and naked in the woods miles from home. He crawled about on his hands and knees and barked back at the dogs. He was brought to the Providence Hospital here, and Drs. Sturgis and Elmore performed a delicate operation, removing a piece of bone that was pressing on his brain. The supposed insane man not only recovered his senses but his identity as well.

His remarkable story is that he was set upon at 16th street and Eighth avenue, New York City, on May 1, 1897, just after he had accompanied his sweetheart home. Three men beat him with a blackjack and threw him into the Hudson river. The last he remembers was being hauled out of the river. His mind is a blank after that. He wrote a long letter to his half sister, Miss Florence Douels, at No. 418 West 32d street, New York City, with whom he had lived, together with his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Douels.

Rogers does not even remember his marriage at Port Blakely two months ago. He had travelled extensively as George Kelly. He is an expert on standing timber valuations. He cannot now recall when he came to the Pacific Coast.

A parallel case to that of Rogers was disclosed in the divorce records of Pierce County, when a fractured skull and a long illness served to recall to George Scott, a wealthy lumberman, that he had a wife and children in Edinburgh, Scotland. This was a shock to his present wife, Mrs. Jane Patterson Scott, who is bringing the action. As Jane Patterson she came to the Pacific Coast in a musical comedy in 1909. She and Scott met in Vancouver, B. C., and were married there that year. After his accident and long illness, while being nursed back to life by his wife, he recalled that twenty-six years ago he was married in Edinburgh. He says Scott is his right name. He cannot recall any illness that would tend to impair his memory.

His second wife, whose home is in Allegheny, Pa., insisted on the divorce and also that he return to Scotland to search for his first wife and children. If he finds them he promises to make up for his long absence. If he does not succeed in his search he will return to Mrs. Patterson Scott and they will be remarried.

Coquelin's Memory.

"How many parts do you know well enough to play to-night if need be?" somebody asked Coquelin. He took a sheet of paper and wrote down the names of fifty-three plays of his repertoire. His friends laughed.

"You are boasting surely, mon ami?" said the Viscount de Lovenjoul. "You have every one of these plays in your library," said Coquelin quietly. "Get them all out and put them on the table." The Viscount did so. "Now," said Coquelin, "let anybody select a cue from any one of these plays at haphazard and give it to me."

They tried him with sixteen plays out of the fifty-three and he never missed a single cue or made one mistake.

Comparative Prices Now and Fifty Years Ago

There is a marked difference in the prices of provisions and wages paid fifty years ago and today, according to Samuel Wilson, a resident of Clark county.

In the early days butter sold for 6 and eight cents a pound; eggs six cents a dozen; chickens, live, $2 and $3 a dozen; turkeys, thirty and fifty cents apiece; ducks, 25 cents; geese, 25c to 50c apiece; potatoes 20c to 25c a bushel; best beefsteak, 6c and 7c a pound.

"Just before Thanksgiving and Christmas, city people either drove out to the country and engaged their turkeys, or sent word that they wanted a turkey. There was no scarcity of turkeys in those days. Everybody raised them and they sold from 30c to 50c apiece. Corn was cheap so that it did not cost as much to fatten stock. Corn sold from 20c to 30c a bushel. Hogs sold for $2 to $3 a head; sheep from $1 to $2; cattle $2 to $4 a hundred. Wheat brought 40c to 60c a bushel.

"I remember when sugar sold for 6 1/4c a pound. It was of the brown kind; when you laid it on glass it would run away in molasses. Loaf sugar, cone shaped, sold for 18c a pound. There was only one grade of coffee and it sold for 18c a pound.

"Potatoes were plentiful and brought from 25c to 30c a bushel. Horses sold for $40 to $50 a head. A choice animal brought about $60.

"Common labor could be secured for 37 1/2c a day. An extra good man would get 50c."

Reference can be made to the market quotations for the comparison of prices on provisions. Common labor today is paid from $1.75 to $2.25. Extra good men get as high as $2.50 a day. Skilled labor is in demand and men of this class get from $3.50 to $5 a day. There is a great scarcity of labor here now. Good horses today bring from $150 to $350 a head. Horses for match teams bring as high as $400 and $500. Good farm horses run in price from $225 to $350 a head.—Ex.

Contempt Case
In Probate Court

The trial of Don Geer, charged with contempt of court in not paying the alimony decreed by the Probate court, was up before Judge Patton Monday.

His wife, Maude Geer, is represented by Lee Rankin and the defendant by Gregg and Gregg.

Wounded Woman
Will Not Recover

Mrs. Lou Powell, wife of Orville Powell, who was shot three times by her husband while in bed at her home in South Solon Friday night, will not recover, according to reports received from South Solon.

Her condition is very critical, and she is now at the home of her parents where she is receiving every attention that loving hands can give.

Dr. F. L. Wilson, who attended the woman, has called two Xenia physicians who are assisting him in an effort to save Mrs. Powell's life.

Orville Powell, who did the shooting is still confined in the Madison county jail, and no charge will be placed against him until the outcome of his wife's injuries is ascertained.

Powell says that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing at the time. He also said he borrowed the weapon in Springfield, and that he does not know what he did with it after the shooting. It has not been recovered.

BAND OF SILLY WOMEN, SAYS BISHOP DOANE

General Rosalie Jones of Suffraget Army Makes Reply.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 30.—Bishop William Crosswell Doane of the Episcopal diocese of Albany and General Rosalie Jones, commander-in-chief of the suffraget army, which reached Albany with a message for Governor-elect Sulzer, locked horns over the question of woman suffrage generally and the objects of the pilgrimage in particular. "I have no faith in the cause of the suffragets," said Bishop Doane. "The women themselves are not as ill behaved as their sisters in England, but they are actuated by the same impulses. The suffragets who made this march from New York to Albany are a band of silly, excited and exaggerated women. Their sole aim in making this pilgrimage, as they are wont to call it, was the attraction of attention. This demonstration will not help their cause any."

General Rosalie Jones was quick of response when she heard of Bishop Doane's remarks. "The good bishop is misguided," retorted the general. "His own daughter, Miss Margaret Doane Gardner, a famous and ardent anti-suffraget, is making just as aggressive fight against the cause as we are waging for it. It is for no man to predict what this pilgrimage will accomplish."

NO MORE CONSTIPATION.
It's Me for Olive Tablets!

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take the children do not regard them as "medicine" at all.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless.

Thousands take one every night just to keep right. Try them.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

WOOD ON THE ARMY

Replies to Criticisms Made in Boston by Theodore Roosevelt.
Washington, Dec. 30.—Conditions in the war department and the army generally have greatly improved since the days of the Spanish-American war, according to Major General Leonard M. Wood, chief of staff, in speaking of the criticisms made by Colonel Roosevelt in his speech at Boston. "The bureau system in the days of the war with Spain was pretty bad," said General Wood. "Many changes have taken place since, however, which I believe would make improbable a repetition of the incidents of 1898 in case of another war."

Lucky Baldwin's Lucky Daughter

San Francisco, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker daughter of old "Lucky" Baldwin, who inherited half of his $22,000,000, reached here in her new private car to spend New Year's. She is just back from an eastern shopping trip during which she expended for diamonds, a yacht, gold and silver ware, a wardrobe and other things a total of $780,000. Mrs. Stocker frankly said she is out for a good time and that money is only good to spend.

GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE

One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Ordered Out in New York.
New York, Dec. 30.—One hundred and fifty thousand men, women and children employed in the men's clothing industry in this city were ordered on strike today by the local executive committee of the United Male Garment Workers of America. Four thousand shops are expected to be affected. Strike leaders, discussing the demand for better wages, said that men have been receiving as low as $8 a week and women less.

Alleged Cracksmen Nabbed.
New York, Dec. 30.—An epidemic of bold robberies and safecrackings in Bronx borough, apparently the work of an organized band of criminals, who are estimated to have realized something like $100,000 in loot from their operations, has been ended, the police believe, by the arrest of five men and two women.

RESCUED IN OPEN BOAT

Captain of Wrecked Vessel Has Thrilling Experience at Sea.
London, Dec. 30.—The captain of the Danish liner Volmer, which was wrecked and abandoned during the storm of last week, and who was brought in here with one other survivor in an open boat that was picked up by a trawler, said that the first boat was smashed soon after it had been launched and eight persons were drowned. He ordered a second boat launched and seven men entered it, leaving him on the bridge. The boat capsized and all clung to the keel. The captain jumped from the bridge and swam to the boat and without assistance succeeded in righting the boat, which he entered.

The steamship soon began to sink and then began a terrible ordeal. The first engineer died of exposure and his body was thrown overboard. The first officer, who had lost his mind, tried to strangle the captain. They lashed him to the thwarts and he died during the night of exposure. The others died on Dec. 26 and their bodies were thrown overboard, leaving the captain and one other survivor. They had very little food and were without water and suffered terribly from thirst.

Perkins Rumors Afloat.
New York, Dec. 30.—The pending resignation of George W. Perkins from the finance committee of the United States Steel corporation, as also his resignation from the directorate of the International Harvester company, again became a subject for lively rumor in Wall street. Mr. Perkins has been seen rarely of late at his downtown office. It is well known that his attention to corporation affairs recently has been very slight. It is thought that if he resigns as a member of the finance committee of the steel corporation shortly he will retain his place as a director until his term expires in April of next year.

ment of commerce and labor the moment La Touraine passes quarantine this evening or Tuesday morning. The proper immigration inspector has been appointed to greet Senor Ruiz, as Castro is known aboard ship; a board has been appointed to facilitate his case at that juncture, and the decision has already been reached to have their verdict viewed and reviewed until it goes to Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel for final indorsement.

This means that General Castro will remain on board the French liner until she reaches her pier and then he will be transferred to a barge or boat which will take him to Ellis Island to await action in his case.

He will occupy first-class accommodations in the government building. It is believed he will occupy the apartments formerly occupied by Prince Pignatelli, who was held up in mistake for an older and more notorious relative who had been expelled from France. He will be allowed counsel who will be permitted to see him at any hour the island is open; he will be permitted to have visitors, and the newspapers will be accessible to him.

The government will proceed against Castro in two lines. First, there will be an investigation as to whether his condition of health does not make it undesirable for him to land. Another point will be an inquiry into the desirability of his presence in this country. That may give the Venezuelan government an opportunity to make representations concerning his character.

Castro is regarded as very wealthy, and it is considered certain that he will put up a hard legal battle.

THE SECRET TERROR.

The haunting fear of sickness and helplessness is the secret terror of the working man. Health is his capital. Kidney diseases sap a man's strength and vitality. They lessen his earning capacity. Folley Kidney Pills bring back health and strength by healing the disease. They are the best medicine made for kidney and bladder troubles. They act quickly and thoroughly. You can buy nothing better. John McMasters, Streator, Ill., says: "I feel better and a great deal stronger than I have for many years, and Folley Kidney Pills did it." No harmful drugs. Blackmer & Tanquary.

The Naked Truth.

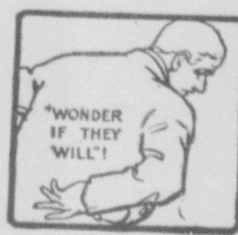

There is an ancient fable which tells us that on a summer afternoon Truth and Falsehood set out to bathe together. They found a crystal spring. They bathed in the cool, fresh water, and Falsehood, emerging first, clothed herself in the garments of Truth and went her way. But Truth, unwilling to put on the garb of Falsehood, departed naked. And to this day Falsehood wears Truth's fair white robes, so that many persons mistake her for Truth's very self, but poor Truth still goes naked.
